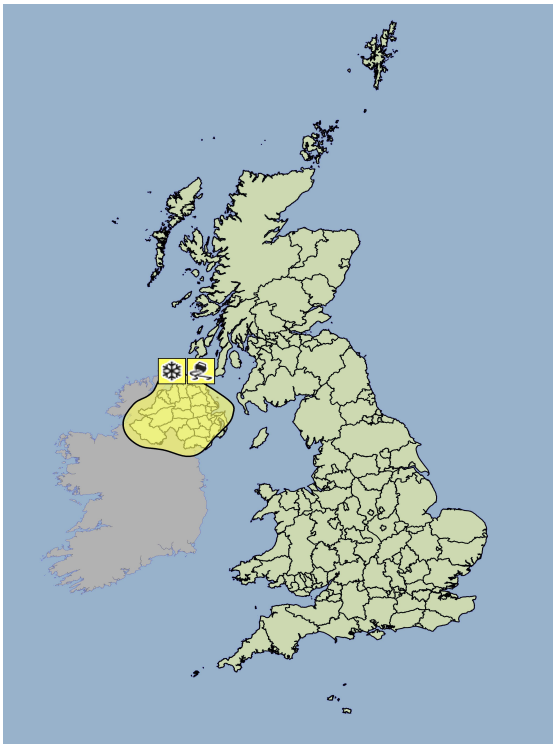
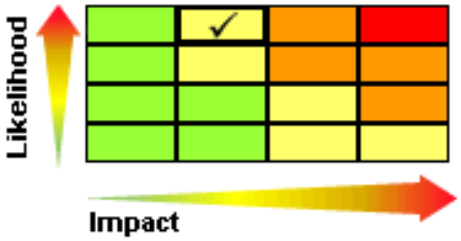
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
A band of rain moving east across Northern Ireland this morning is falling into colder air at present, with sleet and snow falling to low-levels in places, which may also give some icy roads. Milder conditions will develop by mid-morning, with snow turning back to rain as temperatures lift.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Snow and Ice

Valid from 08:00 on Mon, 29th Feb 2016 until 10:00 on Mon, 29th Feb 2016

Sleet and snow may continue to fall across parts of Northern Ireland over the next few hours, with slight accumulations, especially on roads above 100m. This could result in disruption, either through snow or ice. The precipitation should turn back to rain by mid-morning.

You should be aware of the risk of disruption to transport.
